

“...I strongly believe that the quality of tomorrow’s leaders will largely be attached to the character of today’s youth. __African youth will not be able to take strategic steps towards shaping the destinies of their respective communities if the current African leaders do not realize the significance of leadership development for the youth.”

Abdullahi Aden, U.N. Youth Delegate from Somalia at the launch of the Maybach Family Foundation in conjunction with the United Nations Global Youth Leadership Summit Monday, October 30, 2006.